If you share my Ireland Lineage, filed May 5, 1960, and accepted by the D. C. Society and the Order of Founders and Patriots May 18, 1960, I am glad it helps you and hope for your reply. If my lineage diverges from yours, I lack the time to aid you more. At age 80, with a grass roots centennial history of my native town, Chesaning, Saginaw County, Michigan, to finish, my time is running out.

Bulletins of that Order are sent to most public libraries in cities of 50,000 population or more. They give interested persons all needful information. Qualified persons may elect the state society to which to apply. They are in New York, N.J., Conn., Pa., Mass., Ill., Cal., D.C., R.I., Ohio, Fla., Wash., Mich., La., and Texas.

Gen. Eligible women should apply to the state Chapter of their choice for admission to the Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America. They have Chapters in 40 states and the District of Columbia. Eligibility rules in the Order and the Daughters are quite similar. All applicants must be citizens of the United States, age 18 or more, of good moral character and reputation, and descended in the male line of either parent from an ancestor who settled in a colony now included in the United States of America within fifty (in the Daughters, within eighty) years after the settlement at Jamestown, Va., May 13, 1607, and one or all of whose intermediate ancestors, in the same line, who lived in the period of the Revolution, from 1775 to 1783, adhered as patriots to the cause of the Colonies. The patriotism of his Revolutionary ancestor(s) must be satisfactorily proved by proper evidence, and cannot be presumed without such evidence.

The male descendants of any Associate (Member) being of good moral character and reputation and citizens of the United States, shall also be eligible to membership, provided that the claims of each such descendant shall be traced anew from the qualifying ancestors from whom the first Associate was eligible. The Daughters lack this provision.

Thomas Ireland, b. about 1625-d. Jan. /?/1668/9, attached himself at a point and time unknown to the congregation of Rev. Richard Denton. He was silenced at Hemel Hempstead, about 23 miles NW of London, England, for nonconformity to the Church of England. Tradition says that then a majority of his congregation there decided to accompany Rev. Richard Denton to America. He with his congregation arrived in Boston in 1630 with the Winthrop fleet, but a list of that congregation in its entirety seems not to have been preserved.

They went first to Wollaston, a suburb of Quincy, Mass. Soon a difference in creed arose between them and the Puritan congregation already there. A vote was taken over this difference, but Rev. Denton had not brought enough voters with him. They moved to Watertown, Mass. Soon the same difference arose with the same result. Rev. Denton's congregation then moved to Wethersfield, Conn. Again the same difference arose with the same result. The sixth time this occurred was at Stamford, Conn. This difference was explained when Richard Denton was credited with founding at Hempstead, Long Island, N.Y., the first Presbyterian church in America.

Thomas Ireland, b. about 1625-5, Jan. 7/1668/9, attached himself at a point and time unknown to the congregation of Rev. Richard Denton. He was silenced at Hempstead, about 28 miles NW of London, England, for nonconformity to the Church of England. Tradition says that then a majority of his congregation there decided to accompany Rev. Richard Denton to America. He with his congregation arrived in Boston in 1630 with the Winthrop fleet, but a list of that congregation in its entirety seems not to have been preserved.

They went first to Wollaston, a suburb of Quincy, Mass. Soon a difference in creed arose between them and the Puritan congregation already there. A vote was taken over this difference, but Rev. Denton had not brought enough voters with him. They moved to Water-town, Mass. Soon the same difference arose with the same result. Rev. Denton's congregation then moved to Wetherfield, Conn. Again the same difference arose with the same result. The sixth time this occurred was at Stamford, Conn. This difference was explained when Richard Denton was credited with founding at Hempstead, Long Island, N.Y., the first Presbyterian church in America.

The Denton minority about 1642 wished to cross Long Island Sound to Nieuw Nederland, but the Dutch said No. While at Stamford, Conn., Capt. John Underhill joined them. He had led the small Mass. contingent at the capture of the Pequot fort in May 1637, but had been banished from Mass. He drilled the men and boys in the Denton congregation until they had a company of 50 English soldiers, as they called themselves. They had then been in America nearly 14 years. They overlooked the fact that they had ceased to be English. No one had given them naturalization papers but they had become Americans.

In late 1643, the Dutch Governor Kieft was involved in an Indian war beyond his manpower to quell. He needed John Underhill's (Jan van der Hyl's) company to join with Ensign Opedycke's Dutch to destroy two Carnarsee villages on that plain in Jan. 1644 and two Indian villages on the Mianus river between Stamford and Greenwich in Feb. 1644, to bring peace. See 1:458 & 460, Bryant's popular History of the U.S. For their military service, Van der Hyl's company were encouraged to purchase Carnarsee land on which they settled in July 1644. The Dutch Governor confirmed the purchase by his Nov. 16, 1647, patent. Thomas8 Ireland was identified first when named as one who had won his land by his 1644 service.

Data on the family of Thomas8 and his son, Thomas7, comes from reference P, (see page 3 of my supplemental application below). Ref. P is "Some Account of the Ireland Family, Originally of Long Island, 1644-1880", by Joseph Norton Ireland, Bridgeport, Conn., printed there in 1880. A copy may usually be found in any large city's public library, which has an extensive genealogical collection. I bought my copy in 1914. It was a surplus duplicate sold by the Boston Public Library. Now few are for sale any where.

I was first elected as a member in April 1848 in the D.C. Society of Founders and Patriots on my Mother's Smith lineage thru Rev. War Patriot, Solomon Smith, who responded to the Lexington Alarm, April 19, 1775, in the Ashford, Conn., Company of Capt. Thomas Knowlton, Col. Israel Putnam's Regt. then to Founder, Christopher Smith, who bought land at Dedham, Mass., in 1640. My other lineages appear in 6:745 and 7:807, Compendium of Amer. Genealogy, 1937 and 1942.

Any application for membership in any hereditary patriotic organization ought to show ample references, like those on p.3 of my application. Ref. P gives an inadequate amount about Job6 and Thomas5. Ref. N shows that the family of Thomas 5 was the only Ireland family in the vicinity of Newburgh in 1767, hence Thomas 4, Job 4, Amos 4 and Stephen 4 were brothers, not cousins. Thomas 4 served in the 3d Ulster Co. Regt. in 1775, probably in Canada, thus making him an exempt when he served later in the 4th Ulster Co. Regt. with his father, Thomas 5 and Johannes Cosmon, over-age exempts. Amos 4 Ireland and James 4 Cosmon became Tories and went to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia in 1783 or earlier. Stephen 4 Ireland appears not to have served until his 9 months enlistment in Apr. 1779 in Capt. Arthur Smith's North Newburgh Co. in the 4th Ulster Co. Regt.

The Summary List of Job 6, Job 5, Job 4, Job 3, and Job 2 Ireland shows Job 6 as one of 8 brothers, who were sons of Thomas 7 and grandsons of Thomas 8, named in the 1696 cen. of Hempstead, N.Y., on file in N.Y. archives at Albany. Thomas 6 did not share in his father's estate, when the latter died between Jan. 1 and Mar. 25, 1710/11. Thomas 6 must have died or wandered away between 1696 and his father's death. Adam 6 Ireland early became involved in securing title to lands in the Conn. Oblong which Conn., by royal decree, was required to cede about 1731 to N.Y. Colony as equivalent lands to those in the west end of its Fairfield County which Conn. wished to retain. The eastern boundary of N.Y. Colony had been fixed at 20 miles East of the Hudson.

Job 5 was the son of one of the 4 brothers in generation 6 who had become Quakers and all of whom moved to Egg Harbor, Gloucester Co., N.J., about 1719-23 from Oyster Bay and vicinity, and spread from there to Pa., Md., D.C., etc. Thomas 5 had Job 4. He seems to have been the one who served in the attack on Quebec, Dec. 31, 1775, when General Montgomery was killed and Benedict Arnold was wounded. That Job was captured, taken to Great Britain, then shipped to N.Y. He may have been the Job Ireland shown in the 1790 Census at Newburgh, then disappeared. Job 3 was the son of Stephen 4 Ireland, b.1798-d. April 28, 1817, bur. in Malta Ridge Cemetery. Job 2, b. Nov. 10, 1806, at Malta, a babe in arms when the Philip 4 Ingersoll and James 3 Ireland families moved in 1807 from Malta to Bainbridge, Chenango Co., N.Y. The families of Thomas 3 and Jacob 3 Ireland followed a few years later. The family of John 3 Ireland remained at Malta. The family of Stephen 3 Ireland moved to Montgomery Co., N.Y., where their son, Thomas S. Ireland, was born. See his biography in 2:266 Hist. of Montgomery Co., N.Y., by Washington Frothingham, Syracuse, N.Y., 1892. Some later descendants from this branch moved to Grand Rapids, Michigan.
